At 2:30p.m. There was a wreck on Hwy.146 where a truck ran into an 18 wheeler. The man in the truck was pinned in by the steering wheel with badly broken leg. The fire dept., ambulance, police, and tow trucks were there. This man named Beau Lickfett was driving by and saw that the hydraulics the fire dept. were using to try to lift the steering column were not working. He stopped and told them he had an Ezy-lift on his truck and thought he could get him out. They told him to try.

He attached the Ezy-lift to the steering column and lifted the column up so the emergency personnel could pull him out. The man was leaving so I asked his name and number and told him he was a hero because emergency personnel couldn't get him out and this man was bleeding. He was very much in pain. Mr. Lickfett said it's my pleasure and left. I feel if everyone was as caring and took the time to stop and help more lives could be saved.
